DRILLING PERMIT APPROVED TAYLOR RANCH URANIUM PROJECT

Black Range Minerals Limited (ASX: BLR and the "Company") is pleased to advise that Fremont County's Board of Commissioners today unanimously approved, by way of a 3-0 vote, the Company's application to conduct further exploration drilling activities at its 100% owned Taylor Ranch Uranium Project in Colorado, USA.

Over the next fortnight the Company will work with the Fremont County to reach agreement on conditions for which approval is contingent, including such things as controlling traffic, providing reports of compliance, and maintaining agreements for water. The Company is very confident that it will be able to resolve these issues amicably.

Fremont County's Board of Commissioners shall make a final decision on the conditions of the exploration permit at its scheduled July 8, 2008 meeting, providing time for public comment.

The Company is very pleased with this outcome and looking forward to continued work with the county and the community.

Preparations have commenced to resume drilling shortly after the County's Board meeting on July 8.
